Barn, Hay Crop Lost in $20,000 Newportville Fire

6 Companies From Area Battle Blaze

NEWPORTVILLE, July 9—Flames which destroyed a large barn on the property of Thomas Swenson, yesterday afternoon, caused loss of a $20,000 structure, and 100 tons of hay.

The barn was of frame and brick construction, and all that is standing are the brick wall sections. The hay still smoulders.

Cause of the fire is undetermined, according to Swenson. Loss is partially covered by insurance.

One automobile owned by the Swensons was removed from the flaming structure a few minutes after the fire was discovered by neighbors.

The property is located on the north side of Newportville-Emilie road.

Firemen with apparatus from a half dozen companies fought the blaze, and remained on the scene for several hours. Swenson stayed up throughout the night to keep a watchful eye on the smouldering hay. A disaster truck and a refreshment wagon, provided by volunteer units, were at the scene.

The blaze was discovered at 2.45 yesterday afternoon when flames burst through the roof of the two-story barn, on the side away from the dwelling. Mrs. John McFarland and Mrs. Christine Lynch, neighbors, rushed to the property to notify the family, and calls went out for firemen.

More than a quarter mile of hose was laid across fields and down a hill-side to Neshaminy Creek on the road leading from Newportville to Hulmeville. Tank wagons were utilized, fire companies operating these in relays.

Bristol Lawns Dry, But Levittown Gets 4-Hour Soaking

LEVITTOWN, July 9 — While Bristol residents are leaving garden hose untouched, to protect the borough's water supply, homeowners here were asked to soak their lawns four hours daily.

A Levitt & Sons spokesman expressed concern with lawns in this new development, asserting that in many of its new homes the residents have not taken proper care of the grass and landscaping.

The four-hour daily watering was recommended for newly seeded lawns with soaking on alternate days as the grass begins to grow. Hot and dry days are increasing need for watering, the spokesman said, urging the use of sprinklers. He said to rotate sprinklers from each spot before puddles accumulate.

"Nothing will affect property values so much as the condition of the lawn," the spokesman said. He stated that Levittown has plenty of water for lawns.

Wider Highways In Lower Bucks Urged by Wild

Planning Board Told Zoning Is Vital for Area

DOYLESTOWN, July 9 — "With the execption of a few miles of new highways on major routes, only a very few sections of highways in Bucks county have right-of-way widths sufficient to meet even the minimum standards recommended in the Pennsylvania Highway Planning report of 1950."

This assertion was made by Carl W. Wild, planning consultant, in a preliminary report on highways in Lower Bucks county at a meeting of the Bucks County Planning Commission. He strongly advocated zoning by townships in the area.

Reporting to Chairman Howard M. Barnes, John L. Stover, Simon K. Moyer, William S. Erwin, Harold N. Crooker, Thomas B. Stockham, 3rd, and Charles M. Meredith, Wild said that highways in the county "do not even approach what are considered to be normal requirements for highway right-of-way widths."

"Most of the widths," he continued, "were first established at 33 feet, two rods before anyone dreamed of the automobile. It is worth noting that 80 percent and over of the frontage on such highways in Bucks county is still sufficiently under-developed to permit increased right-of-way widths without encroaching on existing buildings or seriously affecting use of abutting land.

"For townships without zoning, the establishment of a zoning ordinance is the best solution. However, power has been granted townships of the second class to establish uniform building setbacks. This new power both permits this protection without zoning and strengthens the principle of uniform setbacks for highways under zoning powers."

Both Middletown and Warrington townships are now considering preparing amendments to their zoning ordinances which will include

Southeastern Bucks 'Most Vital Area' In Water Need

Southeastern Bucks county was termed the most vital area in Pennsylvania in need of increased water supply by the U. S. Geological Survey in a report made public yesterday.

Based upon 1951 figures, the report, called the most comprehensive analysis of water use in the history of the Commonwealth, was collected jointly by the Geological Survey and the Commonwealth's Department of Internal Affairs and Forests and Waters.

Advocated in the report were: Conservation of water and careful, periodic analyses of the utilization of water, particularly in industrial areas.

The report was termed significant in that — before the tremendous expansion of the Delaware Valley, the five southeastern counties of the state, including Bucks county, had withdrawn from public and private surface and ground sources a total daily draft of 2736 million gallons of water — more than one-fourth the total daily use of the entire Commonwealth.

A Bristol merchant and his wife each were fined for disorderly conduct late last night after investigation by township police of an accident in Edgely developed into an argument.

Officers Neil Hepler and William Jayne identified the couple as J. Robert Pearson, 54, and his wife, Margaret, 50, of Bristol RD, whose car they observed at North Radcliffe street and Landreth road shortly before midnight.

The officers said marks on the car indicated it had struck a utility pole 300 feet away.

Pearson, driver of the car, became abusive when questioned, and refused to show his operator's license, according to the officers, who locked him in the rear of the patrol car. Mrs. Pearson then began to argue and tried to unlock her husband from the car, Hepler and Jayne said. She was put into the car with her husband.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rene Tritschler, Mr. and Mrs. Pearson were each fined $10 and costs.

Scales Would Glean $26,000 in 8 Hours In Twp. Truck Fines

The purchase of portable scales would help collect $26,400 for Bristol twp. in overweight trucking fines in an eight-hour period, Acting Police Chief Ernest Nuskey said last night. He said he has recommended the purchase to the township commissioners.

He based the statement on a count he and Officer Charles Shaw made of heavy trucks passing the police station at Emilie within an hour yesterday. Ten trucks passed every five minutes, Nuskey said.

At half that rate, one truck per minute, $55 fines for weight violations would total $26,400 in eight hours, Nuskey said.

He said virtualy all the trucks counted were too heavy to comply with maximum weight laws. The township police now use scales at Green lane to check truck weights, a police officer said, but are not empowered to take trucks there from Emilie, as the distance is too great.

Figurehead Role Disgusts Cop; Wants Beat Back

Disgusted with being a "figurehead," Acting Police Chief Ernest Nuskey has submitted his resignation to the Bristol twp. Commissioners, but wants to stay on the force as patrolman.

The resignation will be effective July 15, Nuskey said last night. At a commissioners' meeting in Edgely Fire Hall, he told citizens attending that Tuesday night he had asked the commissioners to give him "proper authority" to operate the police department. The commissioners did not give satisfaction to the request, Nuskey said.

The acting chief also told his story of charges brought by a Levittown contractor, Anthony Marrone. Other accounts of the episode were given by President George Sottung of the Commissioners and Township Solicitor Robert Baker, all three constantly interrupted by questions and comments from the audience.

"Up until last night I was a figurehead," Nuskey said, stating that the commissioners interfered with his work "on quite a few things."

Nuskey said the interference prevailed "up until last night when I finally got spunk enough to tell them either I was going to run (the police force) or someone else was going to run it."

"It's about time some people gave a little respect to our police department," said the acting chief. "As far as my men go," Nuskey said, "I'm going to protect them 100 per cent, and if they're wrong, they'll know about it."

"Nobody has ever been given proper authority to run this outfit," Nuskey charged. "This is a police department that means nothing.

"We've got a lousy name. Everybody that thinks he's a big shot

DOYLESTOWN, July 9 — "With the exception of a few miles of new highways on major routes, only a very few sections of highways in Bucks county have right-of-way widths sufficient to meet even the minimum standards recommended in the Pennsylvania Highway Planning report of 1950."

This assertion was made by Carl W. Wild, planning consultant, in a preliminary report on highways in Lower Bucks county at a meeting of the Bucks County Planning Commission. He strongly advocated zoning by townships in the area.

Reporting to Chairman Howard M. Barnes, John L. Stover, Simon K. Moyer, William S. Erwin, Harold N. Crooker, Thomas B. Stockham, 3rd, and Charles M. Meredith, Wild said that highways in the county "do not even approach what are considered to be normal requirements for highway right-of-way widths."

"Most of the widths," he continued, "were first established at 33 feet, two rods before anyone dreamed of the automobile. It is worth noting that 80 percent and over of the frontage on such highways in Bucks county is still sufficiently under-developed to permit increased right-of-way widths without encroaching on existing buildings or seriously affecting use of abutting land.

"For townships without zoning, the establishment of a zoning ordinance is the best solution. However, power has been granted townships of the second class to establish uniform building setbacks. This new power both permits this protection without zoning and strengthens the principle of uniform setbacks for highways under zoning powers."

Both Middletown and Warrington townships are now considering preparing amendments to their zoning ordinances which will include

Southeastern Bucks 'Most Vital Area' In Water Need

Southeastern Bucks county was termed the most vital area in Pennsylvania in need of increased water supply by the U. S. Geological Survey in a report made public yesterday.

Based upon 1951 figures, the report, called the most comprehensive analysis of water use in the history of the Commonwealth, was collected jointly by the Geological Survey and the Commonwealth's Department of Internal Affairs and Forests and Waters.

Advocated in the report were: Conservation of water and careful, periodic analyses of the utilization of water, particularly in industrial areas.

The report was termed significant in that — before the tremendous expansion of the Delaware Valley, the five southeastern counties of the state, including Bucks county, had withdrawn from public and private surface and ground sources a total daily draft of 2736 million gallons of water — more than one-fourth the total daily use of the entire Commonwealth.

It was decided to hold the annual picnic Aug. 30. Acting Chief Ernest Nuskey was appointed chairman of the picnic committee. There will be a charge for each adult attending.

Refreshments were served by a committee led by Anthony Alia and Paxson Coffman, of Bristol.

House Vote Slated, Reapportionment

HARRISBURG, July 9 — Among the numerous bills facing a final showdown in the House of Representatives today is one which would reapportion House members, increasing the size of the lower branch of the Assembly from 208 to 210 members. Bucks county would get one more seat in the measure.

Another bill approved by the House Welfare Committee yesterday provides for construction of a 2000-patient hospital for mental patients in Philadelphia. The bill, which now goes to the floor of the House, would include Bucks county in the area from which the hospital could take admissions.

HARRISBURG, July 9 — The Public Utility Commission announced today the Pennsylvania Railroad has abandoned plans to discontinue four New York-Philadelphia passenger express trains.

Merchant Arrested; Wife Fined For 'Aid'

A Bristol merchant and his wife each were fined for disorderly conduct late last night after investigation by township police of an accident in Edgely developed into an argument.

Officers Neil Hepler and William Jayne identified the couple as J. Robert Pearson, 54, and his wife, Margaret, 50, of Bristol RD, whose car they observed at North Radcliffe street and Landreth road shortly before midnight.

The officers said marks on the car indicated it had struck a utility pole 300 feet away.

Pearson, driver of the car, became abusive when questioned, and refused to show his operator's license, according to the officers, who locked him in the rear of the patrol car. Mrs. Pearson then began to argue and tried to unlock her husband from the car. Hepler and Jayne said. She was put into the car with her husband.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rene Tritschler, Mr. and Mrs. Pearson were each fined $10 and costs.

School Bids Opened Today

Bids on the 10-room addition to Lower Southampton Elementary School, Bridgeton pike and Maple avenue, were opened today at the Headquarters of the State School Building Authority, Harrisburg, according to Dr. Oliver Heckman, regional superintendent of the Neshaminy School district.

This addition is being made to a building containing 10 class rooms and one all-purpose room which had been completed in 1951.

Scales Would Glean $26,000 in 8 Hours In Twp. Truck Fines

The purchase of portable scales would help collect $26,400 for Bristol twp. in overweight trucking fines in an eight-hour period, Acting Police Chief Ernest Nuskey said last night. He said he has recommended the purchase to the township commissioners.

He based the statement on a count he and Officer Charles Shaw made of heavy trucks passing the police station at Emilie within an hour yesterday. Ten trucks passed every five minutes, Nuskey said.

At half that rate, one truck per minute, $55 fines for weight violations would total $26,400 in eight hours, Nuskey said.

He said virtually all the trucks counted were too heavy to comply with maximum weight laws. The township police now use scales at Green lane to check truck weights, a police officer said, but are not empowered to take trucks there from Emilie, as the distance is too great.

Lighting Petitions Still in Circulation

Bergman Can't Quit at Tullytown

TULLYTOWN, July 9 — Borough Council has rejected the resignation of Edward Bergman from the police Civil Service Commission, Councilman John Lucisano, chairman of the police committee, said today. He said Bergman agreed to continue with the commission until a civil service system is set up.

SMALL BLAZE SQUELCHED

A trash fire at Pond and Market streets was extinguished at 12.30 this morning according to Van-Doren, a member of the Bristol Fire Company. The blaze was discovered between the Fleetwings Account Office and the gas station next door.

Figurehead Role Disgusts Cop; Wants Beat Back

Disgusted with being a "figurehead," Acting Police Chief Ernest Nuskey has submitted his resignation to the Bristol twp. Commissioners, but wants to stay on the force as patrolman.

The resignation will be effective July 15, Nuskey said last night. At a commissioners' meeting in Edgely Fire Hall, he told citizens attending that Tuesday night he had asked the commissioners to give him "proper authority" to operate the police department. The commissioners did not give satisfaction to the request, Nuskey said.

The acting chief also told his story of charges brought by a Levittown contractor, Anthony Marrone. Other accounts of the episode were given by President George Sottung of the Commissioners and Township Solicitor Robert Baker, all three constantly interrupted by questions and comments from the audience.

"Up until last night I was a figurehead," Nuskey said, stating that the commissioners interfered with his work "on quite a few things."

Nuskey said the interference prevailed "up until last night when I finally got spunk enough to tell them either I was going to run (the police force) or someone else was going to run it."

"It's about time some people gave a little respect to our police department," said the acting chief. "As far as my men go," Nuskey said, "I'm going to protect them 100 per cent, and if they're wrong, they'll know about it."

"Nobody has ever been given proper authority to run this outfit," Nuskey charged. "This is a police department that means nothing.

"We've got a lousy name. Everybody that thinks he's a big shot

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 9 —

WASHINGTON, July 9—Senator Karl Mundt, Republican of South Dakota who laid the groundwork for GOP political victories in the south, has a new proposal to secure a permanent two-party system in that section of the country.

Mundt's proposal, submitted to Congress jointly along with Rep. Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., recommends a constitutional amendment to change the system of selecting electors who technically name our presidents.

The present archaic system is a mere formality required by the Constitution which is meaningless to most citizens. Mundt and Coudert want to select electors — 531 of them — the same way we elect our members of Congress. One from each Congressional district in the nation, and from each state two electors at large — just as we now elect Senators — is the proposed lineup for the new plan, with each elector voting for the nominee of the party under whose label he ran.

In the event the electors, chosen in this fashion, fail to produce a majority for any one presidential candidate, the final choice would be made by a joint session of Congress, with members voting as individuals.

At present, in the event the electoral college fails to produce a majority for any individual, the House of Representatives, with one vote for state delegation, makes the decision.

Mundt points out that choice of electors for the presidency by district will give every voter a chance to name three instead of the present lopsided arrangement where in such states as New York each voter casts a ballot for all of the state's 45 presidential electors. The change would cut New York City and correspondingly large areas down to size, with each individual voter balloting for only three electors — one district and two at large.

There is an added advantage in the idea also, of having electors selected by the same people for the same reason they would vote for a Senator, Congressman or presidential candidate. In other words, the likelihood of a Republican president and a Democratic Congress, or vice versa, would diminish considerably.

Mundt is convinced the new plan would provide a chance for every man to become a candidate for the presidency. No longer would political parties decide on candidates who have particular appeal for large voting areas of the country. The candidates would have to have a nation-wide appeal, since their election would depend upon the entire country, not the big state bloc votes which are so potent at the present time. States such as Pennsylvania, New York and California give the presidential victor in their state their entire collection of electoral votes, although 49.99 per cent of the voters might have named the other candidate.

Mundt said: "Pressure groups and organizations of self-serving and selfish citizens would automatically find their national influence sharply curtailed once they were forced to sell their wares in every voting area in America, rather than operating as they now do under conditions made ideal for pressure groups. Pressure groups now concentrate on selected large blocs of electoral votes located in our metropolitan areas and in states with vast populations where the individual voter by his ballot has from five to fifteen times the power and the determining authority of the voter in the smaller, rural or southern state."

The only off-the-cuff objection to the plan is that it would require political candidates to keep jumping throughout the campaign. Every state would have to be covered with an even coat of political lotion, instead of saving the big doses of oratory and the big purses for the big cities. Television, however, could remove some of this strain, as it did in the November Eisenhower victory.

Minority groups and labor organizations will probably find it expedient to oppose the Mundt-Coudert proposal, since the importance of campaign promises in return for votes from strong groups of this nature will lessen if the plan is adopted.

Mundt sees no conflict with the basic ideas set forth by our founding fathers in asking the nation to adopt his new method of voting for our presidents. He said they intended that each eligible citizen would have an equal voice in the selection. They will finally get it with this Constitutional amendment, and he is just as certain we do not have the equality now.

Barn Fire

other equipment was stored there, he said.

The hay, owned by O'Neill Brothers, was to be put into storage as it was harvested this week. The O'Neill Brothers reside on Newportville-Emilie road.

At the height of the fire, the roof of the large, two-story frame garage, ignited. The roof was practically destroyed, but firemen were able to keep the flames from spreading to the main part of this structure where equipment was stored.

In addition to apparatus of companies in this area, the Second Alarmers came from Willow Grove to provide refreshments for the fire-fighters.

Swenson, who has lived on the property for 14 years, does not farm it. He does not plan to rebuild.

A portion of the farm has been purchased for the proposed route of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Extension which will traverse the land a short distance beyond the destroyed barn.

Fire companies answering the call were from Edgely, Croydon, Hulmeville, Newport and Newportville. Bucks County Rescue Squad, in an ambulance at the scene, gave treatment for minor injuries.

Black Crepe Will Be Style Leader, New York Predicts

By Phyllis Battelle

NEW YORK, July 9 —(INS)— Black crepe—traditionally a sign of sorrow—will be a sign of style-wiseness next fall.

The fashion moguls are predicting that "hanging of the black" on a chic lady will be the largest single trend in all-day-around clothes come September.

Black crepe, in a shirtwaist silhouette with gay little pins to trim it, will be a perfect morning costume under a cloth coat.

Black crepe sheath dresses with pearls and furs will be perfection for fancy luncheons and on through cocktail time. And fuller-skirted black crepes, trimmed with shiny satin or glossy grosgrain or lace, will be one of the year's top formal fashions.

Almost all designers here and in Paris are showing either silk or rayon crepes in their collections for fall-winter, '53. This marks the biggest display of the conservative fabric since all the new, textured materials and synthetics took the play away from the classic several years ago.

It's a welcome return for three reasons. . . It's slenderizing, it's long-lasting and, in general, it's cheaper.

Camp Craft Children Visit Shore Tomorrow

"Enthusiasm of campers for their counselors and program is a pleasure to witness," said Mrs. Bertie Wood, director of the Camp Craft which opened in Fallsington Tuesday. The two-week camp, which some 60 children are attending, is being sponsored by the Friends Service Assocaition at the William Penn Center.

The children, 35 of whom are from Levittown, are being supervised by 19 leaders. The majority of the leaders are from Levittown, too, with two each from Fairless Hills and Fallsington; and one each from King's Farms, Rafferty Trailer Park, Oxford Valley Trailer Park, Woodburne, and Morrisville.

Mrs. Della Cardamon, 220 Willow drive, opened the daily program at 2 p. m. with an assemby of the children, after which they were assigned to craft groups.

Mrs. Wood said those between the ages of 7 and 8, comprising 3 "Blackfoot Villages" will spend the week making a circus; the 9 and 10-year-olds, making up 2 "Iroquois Villages", are painting in oils and working with clay, while the "Cherokee Village", which includes children from 11 to 14, will spend its time working on wood, copper, and aluminum projects.

Highlighting the first week's program will be a trip for the children to Windwood Beach, N. J., tomorrow. Swimming, outdoor games, and a picnic have been planned.

The Falls Township Recreation Council, whose "support of the camp program is much appreciated," said Mrs. Wood, supplied buses for the children's transportation.

Seven young children of the camp leaders are under the care of Mrs. Bertha Paubionsky, 33 Pebble lane. Other children participating in this first period of the Craft Camp include 13 from Fallsington, 7 from Fairless Hills, 3 from King's Farms, 1 each from the Morrisville Trailer Park and Trenton.

Nuskey Quits

politician is going to try to beat us. We'll fight it to the end."

Former police chief Joseph O. Seader at one point interrupted to say to Nuskey, "You helped to crucify me. You told about the $2,000 I got from Levitt. You didn't tell about the hundreds of dollars you were getting." Seader said William J. Levitt, builder of Levittown, paid the officers for after-hours police work and gave the chief extra pay in supporting the township force to provide protection for Levittown.

Nuskey said that Monday he told Anthony Marrone, of 57 Serpentine lane, that the charges the Levittown man was bringing against Chapin must be in writing and signed.

"The man was very disgusted and did not want to do that at first," Nuskey said. "I called Chapin and Stewart in. I made the mistake of insisting that the officers give (Marrone) a list of the charges they brought against him."

"The two officers (Chapin and Stewart) last night stated their case," Sottung said. "There was no trouble. We didn't know what the charges were because we hadn't heard their side of the story."

Marrone appeared at the police station Monday afternoon and said he didn't like the manner in which the officer approached him," Sottung said.

Marrone "did not come in the station to have a ticket fixed," Sottung said after Chapin stated that the contractor tried elsewhere to "see if he could get the charges off."

A question as to why the charges against Chapin and Stewart were never announced was referred to Baker.

"The Board of Commissioners cannot make the charges public until they are given to the Civil Service Commission," Baker said. A tape recorder was used at the meeting Monday, Baker said, "in place of a stenographer. When and if charges are preferred they are very technical," the lawyer said. "I have to have the information.

"The hearing was to hear both sides of the story," Baker said. He confirmed that he told the two officers they could not have a lawyer Monday.

"The way the civil service act is drawn, it's my opinion that police officers at that stage of proceedings do not have the right of representation.

"At that time (Monday) the Commissioners met and listened to Marrone's side of the story. Chapin and Stewart were asked to come up and said they would not come. Their attorney advised them not to.

"Chapin's refusal to speak," Baker said, "constituted grounds for rebuke. (It) constitutes conduct unbecoming an officer.

"The next night, the officers came in and explained their end of the matter," Baker said. "The Board of Commissioners saw fit not to press charges.

"The Commissioners decided that Chapin had behaved as an officer should.

"Every person who has contact with the police has the right to complain," Baker said. "You have to have that right or the police would become too powerful."

Chapin, in explaining the dispute said, "Marrone was told in a very nice way what he was being cited for.

"I gave Mr. Marrone the courtesy to go with him to his home," after stopping the truck, Chapin said. "I asked Marrone for his driver's license. He said, 'What's that got to do with it?" Marrone had been driving a pick-up truck when asked for his license, Chapin said. A larger truck owned by Marrone, driven by Donald Green, had been stopped for violation of the motor vehicle code.

Shortly after being asked for his operator's license, Marrone said "Lock me up, why don't you lock me up," according to Chapin.

"As we backed onto the road," Chapin continued," (Marrone) used language that I will not say in front of the public here."

He said that when the contractor later asked for a copy of the charges against him, "I asked Marrone in a very nice way if he would stop back later."

In an argument with Chapin, Marrone "said he was a big shot," according to the officer. Chapin added that he did not see where he had treated the contractor in an offensive manner.

"Why do you think I resigned?" asked ex-chief Seader.

Nuskey critized the commissioner's policy of holding closed meetings. "If these men can't have the people in there, they shouldn't hold meetings," he said.

The commissioners would not deny that Chapin was reprimanded for refusing to speak at their meeting Monday night, but said Stewart was not so cited.

Marrone's comments were with reference to one officer, Chapin," Commissioner Oscar Booz said.

"There was no charge against Stewart," Baker said. "There was no reason why he had to talk. Stewart was on patrol with Chapin when Marrone's truck was stopped.

Later in the meeting, it was remarked that the commissioners should be impeached. Asked about the procedure if such a step were taken, Baker said, "I cannot press an action as lawyer against the commissioners because I represent them. It would be unethical.

Sottung asked about progress in hiring a successor to Joseph Seader as permanent police chief, said, "Applications have been received for hiring of a police chief. Some have been refused. We didn't get through them all yet."

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 9 —

WASHINGTON, July 9—Senator Karl Mundt, Republican of South Dakota who laid the groundwork for GOP political victories in the south, has a new proposal to secure a permanent two-party system in that section of the country.

Mundt's proposal, submitted to Congress jointly along with Rep. Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., recommends a constitutional amendment to change the system of selecting electors who technically name our presidents.

The present archaic system is a mere formality required by the Constitution which is meaningless to most citizens. The change would cut New York City and correspondingly large areas down to size, with each individual voter balloting for only three electors — one district and two at large.

There is an added advantage in the idea also, of having electors selected by the same people for the same reason they would vote for a Senator, Congressman or presidential candidate. In other words, the likelihood of a Republican president and a Democratic Congress, or vice versa, would diminish considerably.

Mundt is convinced the new plan would provide a chance for every man to become a candidate for the presidency. No longer would political parties decide on candidates who have particular appeal for large voting areas of the country. The candidates would have to have a nation-wide appeal, since their election would depend upon the entire country, not the big state bloc votes which are so potent at the present time. States such as Pennsylvania, New York and California give the presidential victor in their state their entire collection of electoral votes, although 49.99 per cent of the voters might have named the other candidate.

Mundt said: "Pressure groups and organizations of self-serving and selfish citizens would automatically find their national influence sharply curtailed once they were forced to sell their wares in every voting area in America, rather than operating as they now do under conditions made ideal for pressure groups. Pressure groups now concentrate on selected large blocs of electoral votes located in our metropolitan areas and in states with vast populations where the individual voter by his ballot has from five to fifteen times the power and the determining authority of the voter in the smaller, rural or southern state."

The only off-the-cuff objection to the plan is that it would require political candidates to keep jumping throughout the campaign. Every state would have to be covered with an even coat of political lotion, instead of saving the big doses of oratory and the big purses for the big cities. Television, however, could remove some of this strain, as it did in the November Eisenhower victory.

Minority groups and labor organizations will probably find it expedient to oppose the Mundt-Coudert proposal, since the importance of campaign promises in return for votes from strong groups of this nature will lessen if the plan is adopted.

Mundt sees no conflict with the basic ideas set forth by our founding fathers in asking the nation to adopt his new method of voting for our presidents. He said they intended that each eligible citizen would have an equal voice in the selection. They will finally get it with this Constitutional amendment, and he is just as certain we do not have the equality now.

other equipment was stored there, he said.

The hay, owned by O'Neill Brothers, was to be put into storage as it was harvested this week. The O'Neill Brothers reside on Newportville-Emilie road.

At the height of the fire, the roof of the large, two-story frame garage, ignited. The roof was practically destroyed, but firemen were able to keep the flames from spreading to the main part of this structure where equipment was stored.

In addition to apparatus of companies in this area, the Second Alarmers came from Willow Grove to provide refreshments for the fire-fighters.

Swenson, who has lived on the property for 14 years, does not farm it. He does not plan to rebuild.

A portion of the farm has been purchased for the proposed route of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Extension which will traverse the land a short distance beyond the destroyed barn.

Fire companies answering the call were from Edgely, Croydon, Hulmeville, Newport and Newportville. Bucks County Rescue Squad, in an ambulance at the scene, gave treatment for minor injuries.

Black Crepe Will Be Style Leader, New York Predicts

By Phyllis Battelle

NEW YORK, July 9 —(INS)— Black crepe—traditionally a sign of sorrow—will be a sign of style-wiseness next fall.

The fashion moguls are predicting that "hanging of the black" on a chic lady will be the largest single trend in all-day-around clothes come September.

Black crepe, in a shirtwaist silhouette with gay little pins to trim it, will be a perfect morning costume under a cloth coat.

Black crepe sheath dresses with pearls and furs will be perfection for fancy luncheons and on through cocktail time. And fuller-skirted black crepes, trimmed with shiny satin or glossy grosgrain or lace, will be one of the year's top formal fashions.

Almost all designers here and in Paris are showing either silk or rayon crepes in their collections for fall-winter, '53. This marks the biggest display of the conservative fabric since all the new, textured materials and synthetics took the play away from the classic several years ago.

It's a welcome return for three reasons. . . It's slenderizing, it's long-lasting and, in general, it's cheaper.

Camp Craft Children Visit Shore Tomorrow

"Enthusiasm of campers for their counselors and program is a pleasure to witness," said Mrs. Bertie Wood, director of the Camp Craft which opened in Fallsington Tuesday. The two-week camp, which some 60 children are attending, is being sponsored by the Friends Service Assocaition at the William Penn Center.

The children, 35 of whom are from Levittown, are being supervised by 19 leaders. The majority of the leaders are from Levittown, too, with two each from Fairless Hills and Fallsington; and one each from King's Farms, Rafferty Trailer Park, Oxford Valley Trailer Park, Woodburne, and Morrisville.

Mrs. Della Cardamon, 220 Willow drive, opened the daily program at 2 p. m. with an assemby of the children, after which they were assigned to craft groups.

Mrs. Wood said those between the ages of 7 and 8, comprising 3 "Blackfoot Villages" will spend the week making a circus; the 9 and 10-year-olds, making up 2 "Iroquois Villages", are painting in oils and working with clay, while the "Cherokee Village", which includes children from 11 to 14, will spend its time working on wood, copper, and aluminum projects.

Highlighting the first week's program will be a trip for the children to Windwood Beach, N. J., tomorrow. Swimming, outdoor games, and a picnic have been planned.

The Falls Township Recreation Council, whose "support of the camp program is much appreciated," said Mrs. Wood, supplied buses for the children's transportation.

Seven young children of the camp leaders are under the care of Mrs. Bertha Paubionsky, 33 Pebbie lane. Other children participating in this first period of the Craft Camp include 13 from Fallsington, 7 from Fairless Hills, 3 from King's Farms, 1 each from the Morrisville Trailer Park and Trenton.

politician is going to try to beat us. We'll fight it to the end."

Former police chief Joseph O. Seader at one point interrupted to say to Nuskey, "You helped to crucify me. You told about the $2,000 I got from Levitt. You didn't tell about the hundreds of dollars you were getting." Seader said William J. Levitt, builder of Levittown, paid the officers for after-hours police work and gave the chief extra pay in supporting the township force to provide protection for Levittown.

Nuskey said that Monday he told Anthony Marrone, of 57 Serpentine lane, that the charges the Levittown man was bringing against Chapin must be in writing and signed.

"The man was very disgusted and did not want to do that at first," Nuskey said. "I called Chapin and Stewart in. I made the mistake of insisting that the officers give (Marrone) a list of the charges they brought against him."

"The two officers (Chapin and Stewart) last night stated their case," Sottung said. "There was no trouble. We didn't know what the charges were because we hadn't heard their side of the story."

Marrone appeared at the police station Monday afternoon and said he didn't like the manner in which the officer approached him," Sottung said.

Marrone "did not come in the station to have a ticket fixed," Sottung said after Chapin stated that the contractor tried elsewhere to "see if he could get the charges off."

A question as to why the charges against Chapin and Stewart were never announced was referred to Baker.

"The Board of Commissioners..... cannot make the charges public until they are given to the Civil Service Commission," Baker said. A tape recorder was used at the meeting Monday, Baker said, "in place of a stenographer. When and if charges are preferred they are very technical," the lawyer said. "I have to have the information.

"The hearing was to hear both sides of the story," Baker said. He confirmed that he told the two officers they could not have a lawyer Monday.

"The way the civil service act is drawn, it's my opinion that police officers at that stage of proceedings do not have the right of representation.

"At that time (Monday) the Commissioners met and listened to Marrone's side of the story. Chapin and Stewart were asked to come up and said they would not come. Their attorney advised them not to.

"Chapin's refusal to speak," Baker said, "constituted grounds for rebuke. (It) constitutes conduct unbecoming an officer.

"The next night, the officers came in and explained their end of the matter," Baker said. "The Board of Commissioners saw fit not to press charges.

"The Commissioner decided that Chapin had behaved as an officer should.

"Every person who has contact with the police has the right to complain," Baker said. "You have to have that right or the police would become too powerful."

Chapin, in explaining the dispute said, "Marrone was told in a very nice way what he was being cited for.

"I gave Mr. Marrone the courtesy to go with him to his home," after stopping the truck, Chapin said. "I asked Marrone for his driver's license. He said, 'What's that got to do with it?' Marrone had been driving a pick-up truck when asked for his license," Chapin said. A larger truck owned by Marrone, driven by Donald Green, had been stopped for violation of the motor vehicle code.

Shortly after being asked for his operator's license, Marrone said "Lock me up, why don't you lock me up," according to Chapin.

"As we backed onto the road," Chapin continued," (Marrone) used language that I will not say in front of the public here."

He said that when the contractor later asked for a copy of the charges against him, "I asked Marrone in a very nice way if he would step back later."

In an argument with Chapin, Marrone "said he was a big shot," according to the officer. Chapin added that he did not see where he had treated the contractor in an offensive manner.

"Why do you think I resigned?" asked ex-chief Seader.

Nuskey critized the commissioner's policy of holding closed meetings. "If these men can't have the people in there, they shouldn't hold meetings," he said.

The commissioners would not deny that Chapin was reprimanded for refusing to speak at their meeting Monday night, but said Stewart was not so cited.

Marrone's comments were with reference to one officer, Chapin," Commissioner Oscar Booz said.

"There was no charge against Stewart," Baker said. "There was no reason why he had to talk. Stewart was on patrol with Chapin when Marrone's truck was stopped.

Later in the meeting, it was remarked that the commissioners should be impeached. Asked about the procedure if such a step were taken, Baker said, "I cannot press an action as lawyer against the commissioners because I represent them. It would be unethical.

Sottung asked about progress in hiring a successor to Joseph Seader as permanent police chief, said. "Applications have been received for hiring of a police chief. Some have been refused. We didn't get through them all yet."

A series of Articles Introducing the New Residents of Levittown to The Community.

(By Staff Reporter)

Levittown, centrally located between New York and Philadelphia, is the reason the Templemans, Vaughan, Cardella, Richard, and Judith and Mrs. Templeman's mother, Mrs. Mary L. Harvey moved to 113 Crabtree drive, Crabtree Hollow.

Mr. Templeman is in the Merchant Marines and commutes between New York and Philadelphia. Chief Petty Officer Templeman has been in the Merchant Marine for 17 years and is making it his career.

The Templemans arrived in their Levittowner June 9 from Springfield, Delaware County, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Templeman is originally from west Philadelphia and her husband from Narbeth, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Templeman likes baseball and football, but she enjoys baseball more. The Phillies are her favorite team, and she started following them before they won their pennant in 1950. Her husband also likes baseball but doesn't have much time to see it either on television or in person. Richard, 3, has a small tractor and enjoys taking it apart and fixing it as if it were a real car. Several parts of the tractor can usually be seen in the car port.

The Templeman's expect to have contemporary furniture when they get settled.

Delegation Leaving For Big Conclave

Bristol will be represented by a delegation of representatives at the international convention of Jehovahs' Witnesses, Yankee Stadium, New York, N. Y. Cecil J. Jones, presiding minister here, and head of the delegation, announced today that the group will travel by car to join more than 125,000 other witnesses of Jehovah in their eight-day convention opening July 19th. Mr. Jones points out that "Jehovah's Witnesses are coming from every state in the union and nearly 100 countries to participate in the largest religious convention ever held in America. Charter planes carrying delegates from Africa, Europe and Latin America will soon converge on New York. Large delegations from Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and the Orient are already on the high seas. Some 18,000 Canadians are expected."

Rehabilitation services helped 691 disabled persons to leave public assistance rolls in Pennsylvania last year. Many of them had dependents who also were on relief rolls because of their disability. All told, they were receiving $762,684 a year in public aid.

Following the reading of a portion of 1st Corinthians: 13, Dr. Poley offered prayer.

Out of 34 members of the Official Board, there were but four absentees during roll call.

A report was read by Rev. L. Thomas Moore, Jr., pastor. The following Commission reports were made: Membership and Evangelism, James Harris, Sr.; Education, Jay Hook; Missions, Mrs. George Baker; Finance, Stephen Jadlocki, Jr.

A series of Articles Introducing the New Residents of Levittown to The Community.

(By Staff Reporter)

Levittown, centrally located between New York and Philadelphia, is the reason the Templemans, Vaughan, Cardella, Richard, and Judith and Mrs. Templeman's mother, Mrs. Mary L. Harvey moved to 113 Crabtree drive, Crabtree Hollow.

Mr. Templeman is in the Merchant Marines and commutes between New York and Philadelphia. Chief Petty Officer Templeman has been in the Merchant Marine for 17 years and is making it his career.

The Templemans arrived in their Levittowner June 9 from Springfield, Delaware County, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Templeman is originally from west Philadelphia and her husband from Narbeth, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Templeman likes baseball and football, but she enjoys baseball more. The Phillies are her favorite team, and she started following them before they won their pennant in 1950. Her husband also likes baseball but doesn't have much time to see it either on television or in person. Richard, 3, has a small tractor and enjoys taking it apart and fixing it as if it were a real car. Several parts of the tractor can usually be seen in the car port.

The Templeman's expect to have contemporary furniture when they get settled.

Delegation Leaving For Big Conclave

Bristol will be represented by a delegation of representatives at the international convention of Jehovahs' Witnesses, Yankee Stadium, New York, N. Y. Cecil J. Jones, presiding minister here, and head of the delegation, announced today that the group will travel by car to join more than 125,000 other witnesses of Jehovah in their eight-day convention opening July 19th. Mr. Jones points out that "Jehovah's Witnesses are coming from every state in the union and nearly 100 countries to participate in the largest religious convention ever held in America. Charter planes carrying delegates from Africa, Europe and Latin America will soon converge on New York. Large delegations from Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and the Orient are already on the high seas. Some 18,000 Canadians are expected."

Rehabilitation services helped 691 disabled persons to leave public assistance rolls in Pennsylvania last year. Many of them had dependents who also were on relief rolls because of their disability. All told, they were receiving $762,684 a year in public aid.

Methodists Plan Emilie Parsonage At District Panel

EMILIE, July 9 — Plans for construction of a parsonage for the Emilie Methodist Church were begun July 7 at a meeting of the first quarterly conference for Emilie church as a single charge. Dr. Paul Poley, district sperintendent of the North Dist., Philadelphia Methodist Conference, conducted the session.

Rev. L. Thomas Moore, Jr., pastor, was appointed to name a committee of five to secure specifications, plans and details necessary for further consideration of the parsonage project.

Meetings of the committee with the Official Board, the congregation and committees and boards of the Conference, prior to any building program, will be arranged. The site of the proposed parsonage has not been set thus far, it was announced.

Following the reading of a portion of 1st Corinthians: 13, Dr. Poley offered prayer.

Out of 34 members of the Official Board, there were but four absentees during roll call.

A report was read by Rev. L. Thomas Moore, Jr., pastor. The following Commission reports were made: Membership and Evangelism, James Harris, Sr.; Education, Jay Hook; Missions, Mrs. George Baker; Finance, Stephen Jadlocki, Jr.

Mrs. Horace Booz reported for Women's Society of Christian Service; the Rev. Moore, pastor. Methodist Youth Fellowship (for Robert Hook); Mr. Harris, Sr., Men's Bible class; Mr. Baker, chairman of trustees; Treasurer's, Benevolences and financial secretary's reports, Mrs. Arthur Williams.

The year's apportionments were announced and it was decided to accept responsibility of the amounts including approximately a $25 increase in World Service over last year's total.

A report of the nominating committee of the Official Board was made and the following were elected as Stewards for one year: James Mershon, Martin Piersol, Mrs. Samuel Miller and Mrs. Edward Lindemann.

Daniel Webster, statesman, was born Jan. 18, 1782.

TURNPIKE UNLIMITED?

It's a great temptation to grab at straws when the U. S. Treasury and the traffic situation are equally in the soup. But it is necessary to turn reluctant thumbs down on the proposal made by the woman editor of an industrial magazine which would in one swat provide a series of mammoth cross-country super-highways and wipe the national debt off the books.

In a letter to Sherman Adams, assistant to the President, the woman said her plan was to have the federal government build at least four turnpikes, each having eight to 10 lanes, across the country from east to west, and perhaps 10 highways of the same size running north and south. Motorists, she figures, would be so glad to use them that the roads would soon pay for themselves.

The income received after the construction debt had been retired could be used to reduce the national debt. Result: Good roads, happy motorists, no debt, no taxes. There it is — beautifully simple and simply beautiful.

One frailty in the woman's proposal is the assumption that the principle of the toll road has no limitations. To be sure, the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Turnpikes, Connecticut's Merritt Parkway and other toll highways are highly successful, as self-supporting ventures, but there could be a point beyond which there would be diminishing returns.

But the woman editor should not be howled down altogether. She broached her plan in part seriously, in part with tongue in cheek.

'DYNAMIC' DISTRIBUTORS

Merchandising, in which the United States surpasses the world, now has its Hall of Fame in Chicago. The idea was conceived by Joseph P. Kennedy, Boston banker and former Ambassador to London. It was his contention that if America had not produced geniuses in mass distribution, it never would have had the mass production of today.

Merchants the country over were urged to submit candidates, and from 200 the number was reduced to 10, from which editors and college professors made a selection of four. Here they are:

Marshall Field, founder of Marshall Field & Company, Chicago; George Huntington Hartford, founder of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company; John R. Wanamaker, founder of John Wanamaker's, Philadelphia and New York, and F. W. Woolworth, founder of the nationwide 5-and-10-cent stores.

Each of these men in his day was known the length and breadth of the land, and each is survived by what appears to be an enduring institution. Four times life-size busts of each will, suitably inscribed, stand in niches in front of the Merchandise Mart fronting on the Chicago River.

President Eisenhower in a letter praised the "dynamic" system of distribution they epitomized. Best proof of their worthiness for this honor is in the wide emulation of their practices.

TURNPIKE UNLIMITED?

It's a great temptation to grab at straws when the U. S. Treasury and the traffic situation are equally in the soup. But it is necessary to turn reluctant thumbs down on the proposal made by the woman editor of an industrial magazine which would in one swat provide a series of mammoth cross-country super-highways and wipe the national debt off the books.

In a letter to Sherman Adams, assistant to the President, the woman said her plan was to have the federal government build at least four turnpikes, each having eight to 10 lanes, across the country from east to west, and perhaps 10 highways of the same size running north and south. Motorists, she figures, would be so glad to use them that the roads would soon pay for themselves.

The income received after the construction debt had been retired could be used to reduce the national debt. Result: Good roads, happy motorists, no debt, no taxes. There it is — beautifully simple and simply beautiful.

One frailty in the woman's proposal is the assumption that the principle of the toll road has no limitations. To be sure, the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Turnpikes, Connecticut's Merritt Parkway and other toll highways are highly successful, as self-supporting ventures, but there could be a point beyond which there would be diminishing returns.

But the woman editor should not be howled down altogether. She broached her plan in part seriously, in part with tongue in cheek.

'DYNAMIC' DISTRIBUTORS

Merchandising, in which the United States surpasses the world, now has its Hall of Fame in Chicago. The idea was conceived by Joseph P. Kennedy, Boston banker and former Ambassador to London. It was his contention that if America had not produced geniuses in mass distribution, it never would have had the mass production of today.

Merchants the country over were urged to submit candidates, and from 200 the number was reduced to 10, from which editors and college professors made a selection of four. Here they are:

Marshall Field, founder of Marshall Field & Company, Chicago; George Huntington Hartford, founder of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company; John R. Wanamaker, founder of John Wanamaker's, Philadelphia and New York, and F. W. Woolworth, founder of the nationwide 5-and-10-cent stores.

Each of these men in his day was known the length and breadth of the land, and each is survived by what appears to be an enduring institution. Four times life-size busts of each will, suitably inscribed, stand in niches in front of the Merchandise Mart fronting on the Chicago River.

President Eisenhower in a letter praised the "dynamic" system of distribution they epitomized. Best proof of their worthiness for this honor is in the wide emulation of their practices.

Your Birthday by STELLA

THURSDAY, JULY 9 — Born today, you have very definite opinions of your own and aim to follow them, too. But since in addition, you are tactful and diplomatic, you know how to influence people to fall in line with your ideas. This organizing ability can be very useful to you in gainng the success you so desire. For you have high ambitions and want to land on top of the heap!

You have the ability to make money, too. Although you are known to have a long head, when it comes to a business contract, you are eminently fair and honest in all your dealings. It's just that, as a rule, you arrive on the scene first—and get the best pickings!

Original and inventive in your ideas and actions, you can always be trusted to think up some new way of doing a thing. You have a real gift for the written and spoken word. Your wit is sharp and when you wish it can be biting and caustic. You also have a hot temper but a few outbrusts at the wrong time teach you to keep it under strict control at all times.

Fond of travel, it is likely that you will visit many foreign lands. If your life work could be combined with travel, then your happiness would be quite complete.

You are attractive to members of the opposite sex and will probably have more than one opportunity to wed. You women make excellent wives, mothers and home-makers. You are quite capable of handling a household and having a career of your own at one and the same time. You are not as robust physically as you imagine you are, and should take good care of your health, especialy in youth.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Mexican Flowers To Be Projected

TREVOSE, July 9 — "Mexico with Floral Accent" is the topic upon which Dr. Joseph W. Vansant, of Fox Chase, will speak when he addresses members of Trevose Horticultural Society July 21st in the community house.

With summer as vacation time members will "travel" via the beaded screen to Mexico. Dr. Vansant has visited Mexico 13 times, and has hunted in the frontier country with gun and camera.

"Flowers are an outstanding feature of this country" comments the Fox Chase resident.

Robert W. Tuckey, a former president of the society, will enlighten on culture of gladioli.

The Little Flower Show will have exhibits in the following classes:

Arrangement classes — I. A miniature in a pitcher not over 6 inches in any dimension. II. Arr. featuring zinnias. III. Arr. in a sugar bowl. IV. Arr. in tone of pink (using foliage for background).

Specimen classes — V. Lilliput zinnias. VI. Fantasy zinnias. VII. Giant zinnias. VIII. Any other annual. IX. Any perennial. X. Your favorite house plant.

"What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? can faith save him?"
—(James 2:14)

Our verse for today asks us this question: "Can a man really be a Christian if he says he has faith in God and then does nothing about it?" James says the answer to this question is a resounding No. A man cannot have an abiding faith in The Great Creator without allowing that faith to show itself in some outward way. James illustrates his point in this way: Suppose someone came to you who was hungry and needed your help. Then instead of giving him something to eat you merely said, "'I feel so sorry for you. Go your way and be filled." The poor man would leave you in no better state than he came. This seems to be an absurd example and yet many of us live our lives through in the same fashion. We say we believe in God yet we do nothing about it. This kind of faith is no faith at all. It is dead and useless.

Here is no contradiction of Paul's doctrine of salvation by faith, but simply an assertion that this same faith must evidence itself in deeds if it is to flourish and grow. Suppose, for example, that I continually bragged about my wonderful singing voice. "Caruso," I would say, "has absolutely nothing on me." Finally, I am sure, you would ask me to sing for you. But I would say, "It is too hot," or, "It is too cold," or "I do not have time today," or "my voice is too tired." If I kept up these excuses you would soon doubt that I could sing at all. Many of us practise our Christianity in much the same fashion. We profess to be Christians and yet we are seldom in church on Sunday, and show little or no evidence of the fact that we are supposed to bear the name of Christ. If you have been drifting along without a thought of practising your faith attendance at church this Sunday will help you get back on the right path.

Douglass said 13 additional operators have been added to the switchboards which handle toll and long distance calls for a large part of Lower Bucks county. This project, which is part of the Bell Company's $5,000,000 expansion project in the Lower Bucks area, cost $121,000.

The new operators bring the total to 61, compared to 25 that were handling calls in 1950. Now a larger operating force can be kept on duty during the busy periods of the day, he added.

"What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? can faith save him?"

—(James 2:14)

Our verse for today asks us this question: "Can a man really be a Christian if he says he has faith in God and then does nothing about it?" James says the answer to this question is a resounding No. A man cannot have an abiding faith in The Great Creator without allowing that faith to show itself in some outward way. James illustrates his point in this way: Suppose someone came to you who was hungry and needed your help. Then instead of giving him something to eat you merely said, "'I feel so sorry for you. Go your way and be filled." The poor man would leave you in no better state than he came. This seems to be an absurd example and yet many of us live our lives through in the same fashion. We say we believe in God yet we do nothing about it. This kind of faith is no faith at all. It is dead and useless.

Here is no contradiction of Paul's doctrine of salvation by faith, but simply an assertion that this same faith must evidence itself in deeds if it is to flourish and grow. Suppose, for example, that I continually bragged about my wonderful singing voice. "Caruso," I would say, "has absolutely nothing on me." Finally, I am sure, you would ask me to sing for you. But I would say, "It is too hot," or, "It is too cold," or "I do not have time today," or "my voice is too tired." If I kept up these excuses you would soon doubt that I could sing at all. Many of us practise our Christianity in much the same fashion. We profess to be Christians and yet we are seldom in church on Sunday, and show little or no evidence of the fact that we are supposed to bear the name of Christ. If you have been drifting along without a thought of practising your faith attendance at church this Sunday will help you get back on the right path.

Pontiac
GENERAL MOTORS LOWEST PRICED EIGHT

It's very easy to see why Pontiac stands alone in its ability to match features and quality with the finest cars—yet at a price so low that it's within the means of any new car buyer.

First—look at its beauty. Pontiac's distinctive styling is instantly recognized and universally admired. And this same fine styling carries through to its luxurious interiors.

Next—check Pontiac's performance by driving it yourself. You'll learn that under the hood there's more power than you'll ever likely need. You'll find that Pontiac is easy to handle, that it takes the roughest going in stride with amazing road-hugging comfort. And with Pontiac Power Steering*, driving is as effortless as modern engineering can make it.

But Pontiac's final proof of value comes with the years: Pontiac has an unsurpassed reputation for long life, dependability and year-in, year-out economy of operation.

These qualities add up to one important fact: No car represents greater deep-down value, no car offers so much quality at so low a price. Why not come in and spend a few minutes getting the entire Pontiac story? That's all it will take to make you a Pontiac owner.

Franklin Downs Jefferson, 6-5, In 10-Inning Battle

"Toby" Oriola's bat and "Chick" Stansky's relief pitching gave Franklin A. C. a 10-inning victory over Jefferson A. C., on Memorial softball field. Final score was 6-5 with the win enabling Franklin to hold on to its one-half edge on top perch in the Bristol Softball League.

It was Oriola's home run with the bases bare in the seventh that gave Franklin a temporary 5-4 lead. After Jefferson knotted the count in the 8th, and neither team scored in the ninth, the game went into an overtime session.

In the last half of the tenth, Fred Ciotti and Bert Barbetta singled, the former going to third on Barbetta's hit. Nate Chichiletti was purposely passed to load the bags. Oriola then delivered a long fly to right which Mike Perrone basketed but Ciotti scored the winning tally from third.

Stansky took up the mound burden from Nick Lomma in the first inning. Lomma had trouble in locating the plate and after four runs scored on one hit, Stansky went in. He retired the side and then pitched nine full innings to allow Jefferson but one run and two hits.

Franklin Downs Jefferson, 6-5, In 10-Inning Battle

"Toby" Oriola's bat and "Chick" Stansky's relief pitching gave Franklin A. C. a 10-inning victory over Jefferson A. C., on Memorial softball field. Final score was 6-5 with the win enabling Franklin to hold on to its one-half edge on top perch in the Bristol Softball League.

It was Oriola's home run with the bases bare in the seventh that gave Franklin a temporary 5-4 lead. After Jefferson knotted the count in the 8th, and neither team scored in the ninth, the game went into an overtime session.

In the last half of the tenth, Fred Ciotti and Bert Barbetta singled, the former going to third on Barbetta's hit. Nate Chichiletti was purposely passed to load the bags. Oriola then delivered a long fly to right which Mike Perrone basketed but Ciotti scored the winning tally from third.

Stansky took up the mound burden from Nick Lomma in the first inning. Lomma had trouble in locating the plate and after four runs scored on one hit, Stansky went in. He retired the side and then pitched nine full innings to allow Jefferson but one run and two hits.

Better Medical Care Seen For 65-Year Olds

Improved medical care for the one million residents of the Commonwealth who are 65 years old or older through better informed physicians is the aim of the newly-created Commission of Geriatrics of The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania.

"The present day physician must apply the best possible therapeutic agents in treating his older patients," declared Dr. B. Frank Rosenberry, of Palmerton, chairman of the Commission. "We plan to present to the physicians of Pennsylvania all of the newer approaches to such medical care."

"Through graduate educational programs, speakers' bureaus and articles in medical journals, the commission will alert doctors of the state on how best they can benefit the health of the increasing number of aged.

"Better sanitation, better housing, better nutrition and a better environment generally, in addition to better medicine, have all contributed to the years added to the lives of our people," Dr. Rosenberry said. "Physicians now must use all of the modern knowledge of medicine to make these later years healthier and happier. It is the privilege and responsibility of every physician to help the aged achieve a full life of comfort, happiness and usefulness."

There are two major medical societies, the American Geriatrics Society and the Gernotology Society of America, and three national magazines, now devoted exclusively to problems of the aged. Dr. Rosenberry pointed out. The Medical Society's Commission on Geriatrics has expressed its desire to cooperate and assist state egencies having to do with problems of the aged and is offering its services in the medical field.

Members of the Commission, in addition to Dr. Rosenberry, include Drs. Joseph T. Freeman, Philadelphia, chairman of the Commission on Geriatrics of the Philadelphia County Medical Society and for four years vice-president of the American Geriatric Society; Andrew B. Fuller, Pittsbugh; William J. Daw, Wilkes-Barre; Harry M. Klinger, Danville; George W. Chamberlin, Reading; George B. Rush, Aliquippa; Roy W. Goshorn, Allentown; and Edward F. Corson, Philadelphia.

RECIPES

THREE-WAY MUFFINS
Tea Ring - Fruit Loaf

- 2 cakes compressed or 2 packages dry granular yeast
- ½ cup lukewarm water
- ¾ cup shortening
- ¾ cup sugar
- 2 cups all-bran (ready-to-eat bran)
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1½ cups boiling water
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 6½ cups sifted flour

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Measure shortening, sugar, bran and salt into large mixing bowl; add boiling water, stirring until shortening is melted. Let stand until lukewarm. Stir in eggs and yeast. Add one-half the flour and beat until smooth; add remaining flour, beat well. Place in greased bowl, brush with melted shortening. Cover and let stand in warm place until double in bulk; punch down. Dough may be shaped, allowed to rise and baked at once according to directions below, or stored in refrigerator and baked when needed.

Caramel muffins: In each of 12 greased muffin cups, place 1 teaspoon melted butter or margarine and 2 teaspoons dark corn syrup. Using one-third of dough, form into balls and place in muffin cups. Brush with melted shortening; let rise until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F) about 15 minutes. Turn upside down and sprinkle with ½ cup broken nutmeats.

Yield 12 muffins, 2¼ inches in diameter.

Tea ring: Roll one-third of dough about 18 inches long, 5½ inches wide and ½inch thick. Brush with melted butter or margarine and spread with cooked date filling. (1 7¼-oz. pkg. dates, ½ cup water, ½ cup sugar; cook to consistency of jam, cool.) Roll up like jelly roll and seal edges firmly. Place roll on greased baking sheet, pressing two ends together to form circle. With scissors, cut from outside edge toward center, at 1-inch intervals; turn each section slightly so cut edge is up. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25-30 minutes. While still warm, brush with confectioners' sugar icing.

Yield: 1 ring (9½ inches in diameter).

Fruit loaf: To remaining dough, add 1 cup chopped, dried fruit or nutmeats. Form into loaf; place in 9½x4¼ inch loaf pan and brush with melted shortening. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 45 minutes.

Yield: 1 loaf.

Better Medical Care Seen For 65-Year Olds

Improved medical care for the one million residents of the Commonwealth who are 65 years old or older through better informed physicians is the aim of the newly-created Commission of Geriatrics of The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania.

"The present day physician must apply the best possible therapeutic agents in treating his older patients," declared Dr. B. Frank Rosenberry, of Palmerton, chairman of the Commission. "We plan to present to the physicians of Pennsylvania all of the newer approaches to such medical care."

Through graduate courses, lectures, programs, speakers' bureaus and articles in medical journals, the commission will alert doctors of the state on how best they can benefit the health of the increasing number of aged.

"Better sanitation, better housing, better nutrition and a better environment generally, in addition to better medicine, have all contributed to the years added to the lives of our people," Dr. Rosenberry said. "Physicians now must use all of the modern knowledge of medicine to make these later years healthier and happier. It is the privilege and responsibility of every physician to help the aged achieve a full life of comfort, happiness and usefulness."

There are two major medical societies, the American Geriatrics Society of America, and three national magazines, now devoted exclusively to problems of the aged. Dr. Rosenberry pointed out. The Medical Society's Commission on Geriatrics has expressed its desire to cooperate and assist state agencies [illegible] problems of the aged and is offering its services in the medical field.

Members of the Commission, in addition to Dr. Rosenberry, include Drs. Joseph T. Freeman, Philadelphia, chairman of the Commission on Geriatrics of the Philadelphia County Medical Society and for four years vice-president of the American Geriatric Society; Andrew B. Fuller, Pittsbugh; William J. Daw, Wilkes-Barre; Harry M. Klinger, Danville; George W. Chamberlin, Reading; George B. Rush, Aliquippa; Roy W. Goshorn, Allentown; and Edward F. Corson, Philadelphia.

RECIPES

THREE-WAY MUFFINS
Tea Ring - Fruit Loaf

2 cakes compressed or 2 packages dry granular yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
¾ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
2 cups all-bran (ready-to-eat bran)
2 teaspoons salt
1½ cups boiling water
2 eggs, well beaten
6½ cups sifted flour

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Measure shortening, sugar, bran and salt into large mixing bowl; add boiling water, stirring until shortening is melted. Let stand until lukewarm. Stir in eggs and yeast. Add one-half the flour and beat until smooth; add remaining flour, beat well. Place in greased bowl, brush with melted shortening. Cover and let stand in warm place until double in bulk; punch down. Dough may be shaped, allowed to rise and baked at once according to directions below, or stored in refrigerator and baked when needed.

Caramel muffins: In each of 12 greased muffin cups, place 1 teaspoon melted butter or margarine and 2 teaspoons dark corn syrup. Using one-third of dough, form into balls and place in muffin cups. Brush with melted shortening; let rise until double in bulk. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F) about 15 minutes. Turn upside down and sprinkle with ½ cup broken nutmeats.

Yield 12 muffins, 2¼ inches in diameter.

Tea ring: Roll one-third of dough about 18 inches long, 5½ inches wide and ½-inch thick. Brush with melted butter or margarine and spread with cooked date filling. (1 7¼-oz. pkg. dates, ½ cup water, ½ cup sugar; cook to consistency of jam, cool.) Roll up like jelly roll and seal edges firmly. Place roll on greased baking sheet, pressing two ends together to form circle. With scissors, cut from outside edge toward center, at 1-inch intervals; turn each section slightly so cut edge is up. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25-30 minutes. While still warm, brush with confectioners' sugar icing.

Yield: 1 ring (9½ inches in diameter).

Fruit loaf: To remaining dough, add 1 cup chopped, dried fruit or nutmeats. Form into loaf; place in 9½x4¼ inch loaf pan and brush with melted shortening. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 45 minutes.

Yield: 4 loaf.

PUFFED CORN SURPRISE SQUARES

2 cups (12 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate, chopped or bits
8 marshmallows, cut in pieces
2 cups pre-sweetened puffed corn

Melt chocolate over hot but not boiling water. Line 8x8-inch pan with waxed paper. Spread about half of the chocolate in pan. Cover with marshmallows and puffed corn. Spread remaining chocolate over top. Set in cool place to harden. Cut into squares when cool.

Yield: 64 1-inch squares.

NEW YORK — (INS) — There's nothing a fashion-conscious man admires so much in a woman as a sense of "conservative daring" — and there's nothing so conservatively daring for next season as black leather.

Black leather suits and coats are hot news in the style market.

They are also the epitome of eye-catching good taste, for the woman who can afford to be thus eyed and tasted.

Philip Sills, one of New York's most famed leather merchants, has employed famous designer Bonnie Cashin to do his fall collection, and together they have come up with this biggest leather news in a decade.

They are showing complete wardrobes in suede, goatskin, cape and kidskin. And the most sensational (and practical) garments are their soft or shiny ebony models.

They show suede shirts which are yoked and pocketed, can be worn inside or outside suede skirts; slim skirts are matched to dotted silk ascots, and the jackets are lined in the same; great coats are lined with alpaga so they will be heavy enough all season.

The stark blackness is often relieved by white stitching.

Here's How to Brush Teeth

Chlorodent photo

Tooth-brushing is a daily beauty chore that can't be neglected. Teeth should be thoroughly cleaned after every meal.

By HELEN FOLLETT

WHITE teeth are an important element of facial composition, so it behooves every would-be beauty to take fastidious care of them. Brushing should be a careful, not a hasty, job.

Surveys show that only twenty per cent of the American population receives proper dental services. Goodness only knows how many of these give teeth proper home care. Many are probably casual brushers who do not remove all the particles of food that may remain after eating and which change chemically in a short time. One should brush teeth after every meal. This is not always convenient after luncheon but the morning and night scrubbing should be thorough enough to make up for it.

For Final Rinsing

Have two brushes, using them on alternate days. The bristles should not be harsh, nor should they be pressed against the gums, causing them to bleed and recede. After the brushing, a mouth lotion should be used as a final rinsing.

If you chew only on one side of your mouth, you can be pretty sure that something is wrong on the other side, some sensitive spot or an impaired tooth. If this is so, toddle your way to the dentist's office and have him take a look.

Twice a Year

A dental pilgrimage should be made twice a year anyway, even if you have no oral troubles. The dentist will make a careful examination and do such repairs as may be necessary. A lot of trouble may be going on of which you are not aware—tartar, for instance, that the brush does not remove and that banks up in hard masses at the roots of the teeth.

Cut down on the glamour overhead if you must but guard and conserve your teeth; your health and beauty depend upon them.

PARIS — Paris spring fashions will resemble an hourglass with the lower curve trimmed away.

They will be top-heavy; the "liberated look" is the theme, everywhere but in the hipline.

Suits, for example, will be easy and full in the jacket, but their skirts will be relentlessly slim.

The breastlines of jackets will be accented with breast pockets to make them extra full and the waistlines will be softly indented.

Suit jacket lapels are rarely classic and man-styled. Notched lapels are cut in a special way to stand up like a cock's comb. Shawl-collars or simple cuffs around the neck are popular. But the height of chic will be no collar at all.

Some Paris designers sponsor a new, shapely type of suit jacket which is, however, not fitted around the bodice. It seems to stand away from the bust, waist and hips about three-quarters of an inch.

Buttonless top-coats are fashionable for the coming season. Many are collarless. Sleeves often grow out from a shoulder yoke.

Coat-dresses and suit-dresses, worn with a fur-piece, will be popular for the first soft Spring days.

Paris fashion stylists dictate the slim, simple straight dress of plain fabric for daytime wear and printed, flowery outfits.

Many clinging, sheathy daytime dresses are beltless but cut to mark the waistline. Others come with elaborate leather belts.

Fewer Collars

Necklines on dreses are often collarless. They vary from boat-necks to wide-spread Vs, or to strapless and back-baring styles for evening. Cowl-necks, funnel-shapes, shawl-collars and simple neck-cuffs will also frame ladies' faces.

Tight waists and full skirts appear on fluffy styles made of printed materials. Chiffon, organdie, silk and cotton are used by Paris designers for lovely Spring and Summer fashions. The accent is more on the novelty prints than on the cut. Besides the flower-prints there are fruit, vegetables, splashed-paint, Chinese figures, a pin-cushion design and even jewelry stones and diamonds printed on the sheer and fluffy fabrics.

For galas and balls during the coronation season satin, net and lace gowns are most popular. The most sumptuous embroideries — often covering the dress fabric completely — have also been designed for the extravagant festivities.

NEW YORK—You can fool most of the people some of the time — but not teen-age girls, when it comes to clothes!

Let necklines wander and sheaths compress. Let waistlines balloon outward and hiplines cup in. Let fashion tell women what they will wear, and when, and where . . .

But don't tell it to the girls. They've found their style and they're sticking to it.

It's not that they're not high-style conscious; they are merely at an age where they want more than almost anything to look pretty and an age where, en masse, they can afford to flaunt fashion to do so.

Consequently, the junior dress and suit picture is much the same this spring as last. There are a few sheaths, but most teen-agers will wear gently-flaring to full skirts.

None of this low-pitched waist business for the high-school set. The high-rising waistline, or the normal waistline with belts to accentuate a trim middle are still the fashion order.

While high fashion goes in for eased-away collars that show off only the bony portion of the throatline, teen-agers will cling to the quite low or quite high neckline. There will be high clergymen's collars, the starchy and flattering Peter Pan collars, and shoulder-revealing strapless dresses again.

Some of the fancy fabrics of '53 have gotten through into the junior clothes market, but it's still the checked ginghams, the cotton tweeds, denims, shantungs and men's shirting that are expected to be the favorites.

The high-fashion shades for ladies this spring are pink and pale blue. Baby shades! The teen-agers will use black and white, sparked with bright red or yellow as their colors-of-the-season.

And while the older women are taking to straight boxy jackets that are inclined to hide the slim waist and show off the wider hip, the teen-age set will more often wear bolero-length or waist-length toppers that give a feminine curve a break.

Probably the most flattering of the "looks" for the junior figure this year is what the fashion trade has labeled the "choir boy silhouette."

This is a dress with a round yoke onto which much, much fabric is gathered. The bodice billows out over the bustline, is drawn in snuggly with shirring (sometimes elasticized) at the waist, and left to billow out again to the hem.

The average disabled person rehabilitated into successful employment by the Pennsylvania Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation repays the full cost of his rehabilitation in taxes within five years.

Some 6,392 disabled men and women are receiving help from the Pennsylvania Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation. Most of them will be able to return to gainful employment. Another 5,139 disabled persons are known to the Bureau.

In ten years since the improved vocational rehabilitation law for civilians was enacted, 530,000 disabled men and women have been returned to employment through the State-Federal system of vocational rehabilitation.

AFTER THE FOURTH THEN WHAT?

By DR. JAMES N. ROEBUCK

With the happiness and joy a holiday brings there also comes sadness and sorow. Hundreds lost their lives and an unestimated number were injured. Among the injured there is a group happy that nothing more serious occurred than slight injuries.

However slight an injury may seem, slight displacements of one or more of the bones forming the framework of the body may occur and cause nerve pressure. After the original pain has subsided the nerve pressure may still remain causing a constant hidden loss of vital nervous energy. This in time lowers resistance and is the basis for ill health and disease in the future.

If you have been injured, a Chiropractic examination is recommended to determine if there are any nerve pressures and if so the possibility of correcting them.

This is the twelfth of a series of Chiropractic educational advertisements appearing in this paper each Thursday through the courtesy of Dr. James N. Roebuck, Chiropractor, 1806 Farragut Avenue, Bristol, Pa.

"Grasshoppers"
AND LOW-COST TELEPHONE SERVICE

The "grasshoppers" we are talking about are small fuses designed to protect certain telephone circuits. The fuse takes its name from a small spring that pops into view whenever trouble occurs. Alerted by an alarm and guided by this little "flag," telephone men can spot and correct the trouble without delay.

Grasshopper fuses are not new. We have used them for years. But just recently we found a way to improve them. Now they do a better job and cost us less.

It's our job to provide telephone service that's high in value—low in cost. To do this, we must constantly find ways to do that job better. By devising cable that will carry more calls at one time. By developing faster, better ways to build wire and cable lines. By finding ways to make equipment smaller and stronger.

You can be sure of this: once we have found a better way to do a job, the new way soon becomes the regular way to do it. This is your assurance that telephone service here in Pennsylvania will continue to improve in quality, remain low in cost.

AFTER THE FOURTH THEN WHAT?

By DR. JAMES N. ROEBUCK

With the happiness and joy a holiday brings there also comes sadness and sorow. Hundreds lost their lives and an unestimated number were injured. Among the injured there is a group happy that nothing more serious occurred than slight injuries.

However slight an injury may seem, slight displacements of one or more of the bones forming the framework of the body may occur and cause nerve pressure. After the original pain has subsided the nerve pressure may still remain causing a constant hidden loss of vital nervous energy. This in time lowers resistance and is the basis for ill health and disease in the future.

If you have been injured, a Chiropractic examination is recommended to determine if there are any nerve pressures and if so the possibility of correcting them.

This is the twelfth of a series of Chiropractic educational advertisements appearing in this paper each Thursday through the courtesy of Dr. James N. Roebuck, Chiropractor, 1806 Farragut Avenue, Bristol, Pa.

"Grasshoppers"
AND LOW-COST TELEPHONE SERVICE

The "grasshoppers" we are talking about are small fuses designed to protect certain telephone circuits. The fuse takes its name from a small spring that pops into view whenever trouble occurs. Alerted by an alarm and guided by this little "flag," telephone men can spot and correct the trouble without delay.

Grasshopper fuses are not new. We have used them for years. But just recently we found a way to improve them. Now they do a better job and cost us less.

It's our job to provide telephone service that's high in value—low in cost. To do this, we must constantly find ways to do that job better. By devising cable that will carry more calls at one time. By developing faster, better ways to build wire and cable lines. By finding ways to make equipment smaller and stronger.

You can be sure of this: once we have found a better way to do a job, the new way soon becomes the regular way to do it. This is your assurance that telephone service here in Pennsylvania will continue to improve in quality, remain low in cost.

NEW YORK — (INS)—The Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York is no slouch when it comes to cuisine.

But every spring, the chef at the Waldorf doffs his white hat and makes a deep bow to France with an event called the "Festival Gastronomique." This is merely the title given to a month-long service of famous French dishes gathered from famous French hotels, resorts and restaurants.

Many of the dishes featured are, of course, a bit too rich for the average American's pocketbook. Breast of guinea hen served in a wine, brandy and cream sauce and garnished with goose livers has a proper place on the Waldorf menu, but is no substitute for hamburger on the budget.

However, the Waldorf's executive chef, Ernest Theyvaud, has compiled a few hints and a couple of recipes he thinks could be put to good use by the average house-wife.

He suggests women in the midwest and west would be interested in the recipe for "Brook Trout Meuniere."

You need a half-pound brook trout, seasoned with salt and white pepper. Dip it in milk and roll it in corn flour. Then fry in butter until well done (golden brown). Put the trout on a platter, top it with a mixture of chopped parsley and chopped chives, and lemon juice, a little salt and plenty of butter for the sauce. Serve with lemon wedges and parsley potatoes.

Instead of the usual chicken dinner, Chef Treyvaud recommends trying "Chicken Chambertin." This is boned chicken done in wine and broth.

First saute the chicken in butter with diced salt pork, chopped onions and carrots. Then add some flour and fry until golden brown. At this point, add enough wine and broth to cover—using a ratio of one-third Chambertin wine to two-thirds chicken broth. Add two pieces of mashed garlic, one laurel leaf, one pinch of thyme and salt and pepper. Cook the chicken for about one hour, then remove it from the sauce.

Strain the sauce, thicken it with butter and flour, add small onions and scalloped mushrooms and serve it with the chicken. Also serve slices of bread fried in butter and flavored with garlic as a garnish.

The third recipe Chef Treyvaud suggests is for a dessert called "Peach Magdeleine." This is just vanilla ice cream, peach segments and whipped cream, but served in the French manner.

Cut a fresh peach in segments and arrange them rose fashion on a plate. Put a ball of vanilla ice in the center. Using a pastry bag, drop a star of whipped cream between each of the peach segments and also on top of the ice cream. Top off with a candied cherry.

If you like you can flavor the whipped cream as the French like to—with kirsch liquer. The Waldorf chef advises that the best results come if you add the kirsch after the cream has been whipped and placed.

Yearning for Added Tresses?

Need a change of coiffure? Then experiment with extra hair pieces such as this curly cluster pinned over a bun.

By HELEN FOLLETT

DON'T ever refer to demountable tresses as "false hair." You will be offending the beauty industry, the members of which call them "extra pieces." They aren't false; the silky shafts were once attached to a feminine head. The peasants of Europe pick up a little spending-cash selling their hair to companies that make these "extra pieces."

Perhaps you have always yearned for a braid. You'll see them now and then worn by women who have grown tired of the bob in its various forms and want to look different.

Braided Piece

Many pretty girls, who do modeling for fashion pictures, find straight hair very becoming. They pull it back, form a little bun and encircle it with a braided "extra piece." In front the arrangement can be plain or carry a few wide undulations.

Another idea is the side-swept arrangement. The hair is parted low at one side, the thicker side is combed toward the crown of the head, the curly ends form a cluster, and a tiny braided "extra piece" surrounds them.

Spanish Comb Style

A still more unusual effect is called the Spanish comb mode. The braid is pinned in place across the top of the head, and lifted slightly in the center. The back hair is done in close sculptured curls. Cute, eh? Fancy what a sensation you would make if you appeared all dolled up like that.

All this will remind your Grandma of her young days when factory hair was a mania. No matter how much home-grown material a woman had, she had to add some to which she was not naturally attached.

Fringe on Top

First, she combed her hair over her face and ears, pinned on what was called a fringe, combed her own hair over it, forming a large pompadour.

But that was only the beginning of this marvelous structure. On the top of her pate she placed little puffs, enough to fill a biscuit tin. Around these she twisted what was called a coronation braid, thirty-six inches long, weighing three ounces!

NEW YORK — One of the problems in trying to reduce is the fact that most reducing diets call for some of the dullest dishes possible.

Diets and dull foods are not synonymous for the average dieter, however. Medical diets are something else again, and should be followed exactly as outlined by a physician. But the woman who merely wants to take off a pound here and there for a tidier figure can have interesting food and still lose weight.

A new book called "201 Tasty Dishes for Reducers" presents a typical listing of things that are fun to eat although non-fattening. The author, dietician Victor Lindlahr, offers recipes for such items as "Braised Beef with Chinese Cabbage," "Spanish Pot Roast," "Shrimp Egg Foo Young" and "Lemon Snow Pudding." These may sound rich and taste rich, but they're definitely calorie-poor.

In addition to his listing of recipes, Lindlahr offers some advice that every would-be dieter should take to heart.

First of all he makes the point that the wisest thing to do is check with your doctor first just to be sure that you should diet, and also to know how far to diet.

Lindlahr also points out that if you know it's okay to diet, your diet still won't be successful unless you apply a little common sense. He says a calorie-watcher who "can't do" without pork chops, sugar and cream in coffee and a cocktail before dinner isn't going to get very far.

Pork is fattening, so the smart thing to do is stick to beef and lamb while dieting. Sugar and cream add 50 calories to each cup of coffee, and suppose you drink several cups a day? As for cocktails, the average is 80 calories an ounce, running as high as 165 calories for each small glass of sweet wine, and the only way to beat these calories is to drink tomato juice.

Exercise No Help

In addition, Lindlahr has the perfect facts-and-figures answer to the dieter who "just can't resist" dipping into a double fudge sundae because "exercise will even things up."

For these wishful thinkers, Lindlahr compiles a little chart which shows that climbing a mountain two miles, running for 53 minutes, swimming for one hour, or walking fast for almost two hours will each burn up only 500 calories and still not take off weight.

On the other hand, you put on 500 calories with each chocolate bar, each malted milk shake, a piece of lemon meringue pie or one liverwurst sandwich with one glass of milk.

FOOD OBJECTIVE

ROME—(INS) — Self-sufficiency in food, through mechanization of agriculture, will be "an immediate and constant objective" for the Italian Government. Minister of Agriculture Amintore Fanfani declared that Italy is undergoing a "real even if quiet revolution in the field of agriculture."

Pa. Game Commission Sets Seasons, Limits

HARRISBURG, July 9 — The Pennsylvania Game Commission recently set the following seasons and the daily, season and possession limits for the taking of game birds, game animals and fur-bearers during the hunting license period of September 1, 1953 to August 31, 1954.

Small Game

The small game hunting season will open at 9 a. m., October 31 and run until 5 p. m., November 28, the last day. Otherwise, daily shooting hours are 7 a. m. to 5 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Sundays excepted.

The season for ruffed grouse, wild turkeys, male ringneck pheasants, gray, black and fox squirrels, and cottontail rabbits will run for the full season, October 31 to November 28, inclusive. Limits on them are: grouse two a day and 8 the season (season bag is up two over 1952); wild turkeys, one and one; pheasants (cocks only), two and 8; gray, black and fox squirrels (combined), five and 20; cottontail rabbits, four and 20.

The counties and areas closed to wild turkey hunting are: Adams; Allegheny; Beaver; Bucks; Chester; Cumberland; Delaware; Greene; Lancaster; Montgomery; Perry; Philadelphia; Washington; and York. Also that part of Franklin County south and east of U. S. Highway No. 11, and the parts of Berks; Dauphin; Lebanon; Lehigh and Northampton Counties south of U. S. Highway No. 22.

Raccoons will be unprotected beginning September 1, 1953, and may be taken in unlimited numbers on all days except Sundays by either the hunting or trapping method until September 1, 1954. Woodchucks are unprotected and may be taken in unlimited numbers except on Sundays during the 12 month period ending August 31, 1954.

Snowshoe rabbits (varying hares) may be hunted next January 1 to 9, inclusive. The limit: two a day, 6 the season.

There will be no closed season on grackles during the 1953 license period, and red squirrels are unprotected all months except October, 1953.

Regulations covering possession and transportation limits of legally killed small game are the same as last year. They allow not more than the daily limit for the first day nor more than an accumulated total for each succeeding day of the open season for each species. But small game shall not be in excess of the season limit, regardless where held, stored or found in possession.

Big Game

The first day of each 1953 big game season will open at 7 a. m. and close at 5 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, the same as every other day in the seasons.

Bears

The season on bears is November 16-21, inclusive. Only bears over one year old are legal game. An individual hunter may take one bear in the 1953 season; a hunting party of three or more persons may take two bears in one day or during the entire season.

Antlered Deer

From November 30 to December 12, inclusive, a state-wide two-week "buck" season for animals of the following description: male deer with two or more points to one antler: Provided, a male deer with an antler three or more inches long without points, measuring from the top of the skull as the deer is in life, shall be considered legal. (Note variation from long-standing requirement of two or more points to one antler.)

Antlerless Deer

With the aim to further reduce the numbers of female deer in certain areas and better balance the herd, the Commission set the antlerless deer season for December 14 and 15, Monday and Tuesday. Only deer without visible antlers will be legal game in that season. The number of antlerless permits to be sold for the season this year will be 103,000, or less than half the number issued for the 1952 season. The season will be one day shorter than during 1952.

Bow Season for Deer

The archers' season, October 12 to 24, inclusive, will be for male deer only as described in the antlered deer season above. In addition to the regular hunting license every bow hunter, without exception, must procure a special archery license costing $2.00 from the Department of Revenue only, Harrisburg, in order to hunt during the special bow season.

Fur Seasons

The mink trapping season will extend from November 9 to January 1, with no limit on the take. Unlimited numbers of muskrats may be trapped November 28 to January 16.

The beaver season was again set for three weeks, February 15 to March 6, 1954, inclusive. The number of these fur-bearers that may be taken was again raised because of their present numbers and destructiveness. Trappers will be allowed 4 in one day or 4 the season throughout the Commonwealth.

Skunks and opossums remain on the unprotected list. They may be taken in unlimited numbers until September 1, 1954.

There will be no open season on hen pheasants, Hungarian partridges, bobwhite quail, sharptailed grouse, cub bears, otters, elk, or spike bucks with antlers less than 3 inches in the 1953-54 season.

(Editor's note: In preparing this information for news disseminating agencies as quickly as possible, following the Game Commission meeting of July 1, there was insufficient time to prepare explanations of changes in the 1953 regulations over those of recent years. These will be forthcoming through this service in the near future.)

Pa. Game Commission Sets Seasons, Limits

HARRISBURG, July 9 — The Pennsylvania Game Commission recently set the following seasons and the daily, season and possession limits for the taking of game birds, game animals and fur-bearers during the hunting license period of September 1, 1953 to August 31, 1954.

Small Game

The small game hunting season will open at 9 a. m., October 31 and run until 5 p. m., November 28, the last day. Otherwise, daily shooting hours are 7 a. m. to 5 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Sundays excepted.

The season for ruffed grouse, wild turkeys, male ringneck pheasants, gray, black and fox squirrels, and cottontail rabbits will run for the full season, October 31 to November 28, inclusive. Limits on them are: grouse two a day and 8 the season (season bag is up two over 1952); wild turkeys, one and one; pheasants (cocks only), two and 8; gray, black and fox squirrels (combined), five and 20; cottontail rabbits, four and 20.

The counties and areas closed to wild turkey hunting are: Adams; Allegheny; Beaver; Bucks; Chester; Cumberland; Delaware; Greene; Lancaster; Montgomery; Perry; Philadelphia; Washington; and York. Also that part of Franklin County south and east of U. S. Highway No. 11, and the parts of Berks; Dauphin; Lebanon; Lehigh and Northampton Counties south of U. S. Highway No. 22.

Raccoons will be unprotected beginning September 1, 1953, and may be taken in unlimited numbers on all days except Sundays by either the hunting or trapping method until September 1, 1954. Woodchucks are unprotected and may be taken in unlimited numbers except on Sundays during the 12 month period ending August 31, 1954.

Snowshoe rabbits (varying hares) may be hunted next January 1 to 9, inclusive. The limit: two a day, 6 the season.

There will be no closed season on grackles during the 1953 license period, and red squirrels are unprotected all months except October, 1953.

Regulations covering possession and transportation limits of legally killed small game are the same as last year. They allow not more than the daily limit for the first day nor more than an accumulated total for each succeeding day of the open season for each species. But small game shall not be in excess of the season limit, regardless where held, stored or found in possession.

Big Game

The first day of each 1953 big game season will open at 7 a. m. and close at 5 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, the same as every other day in the seasons.

GARDEN NOTES

By Walter W. Pitzonka, Jr.

Of course this time of the year is definitely too adverse to move most trees and shrubs. It is not too hot, however, to plan what you want to plant this fall. Yes, I mean actual planning because landscaping should not be a thing of just placing material but it needs much thought. Think of what color patterns will be formed or what foliage contrasts will be seen. Think of what the ultimate height of the plant material will be, not the present height. There are several considerations which should be taken in mind.

It certainly has changed to the dry hot side, hasn't it? Well, if you are thinking how you should water, here it is! Do not water every day! Only water about twice a week and when you do water, run it on one area for about 20 to 30 minutes. This will give a good soaking to the ground but will not keep the soil water logged. Another reason for this type of watering is to keep the water throughout the entire soil and not just the surface. Surface light watering will only make the roots be concentrated toward the top and eventual drying and death will occur if one day is missed in watering.

There is a new apparaus on the market which waters the root system. It is a 36" hollow tube which can be attached to the garden hose. The tube is rammed into the soil and the water is turned on. This water is ejected into the soil well below the surface. This piece of equipment is not necessary if your soil does not form a hard crust on top. If your ground is hard as rock, then this is very handy.

Today I ate my first ripe, delicious home grown tomatoes. Boy—they were as good as good can be. How are yours? You can still plant a crop of sweet corn and this can be done this week.

Again I'll remind you to dust or spray your roses and flowering shrubs because the Japanese beetles are here in full force. Either spray with a DDT mixture or an arsentical compound. If you are not sure what is safe to use, then contact a person who has been trained for good sound advice.

Here is a scoop for you — the public. This year there is a great innovation in the plant industry — a golden tinted shasta daisy. The botanical name is "Chrysanthemum maximum Cobham Gold". Up to this time there has always been white shasta daisies. White single daisies or double white daisies, but they have always been white. This year from the Cobham, England research plant gardens came a golden tinged shasta daisy from among seedlings of "Esther Reed". This local nursery imported stock plants this spring. They made close observations on the growth habit, flower color, and hardiness. When the results were favorable, their chief propagator went to work. Within a few weeks he had made enough plants for this season.

See you next week with some more garden chatter. Happy gardening.

First written constitution was adopted at Hartford, Conn., Jan. 14, 1639.

RECIPES

SNOWY WHITE SWEET RICE

When a treat for the gang is the order of the day or when the dessert problem is staring you in the face, reach for the rice box and fix in a jiffy, this simply marvelous sweet rice dessert with a hot fudge sauce.

How yummy and good, to dribble a hot and chocolaty sauce over a snow white and chilly delicious combination of tender rice and whipped cream flavored with a dash of vanilla and sweetened to a just right degree! Here is the ultimate in truly good, yet truly easy dessert, which is a handsome party refreshment or a homey and good family meal ending.

Ingredients for sweet rice:
- 3 cups hot cooked rice
- ½ cup beet or cane sugar
- ½ pint whipping cream
- ½ teaspoon vanilla

Ingredients for hot fudge sauce:
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 ounce (square) unsweetened chocolate
- ⅓ cup boiling water
- 1 cup beet or cane sugar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- ⅛ teaspoon salt

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice, put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. After the rice has cooked, remove saucepan from heat—but keep the lid on until the rice is to be served.

Use exact measurements of uncooked rice and water. Time the cooking accurately. For extra convenience and economy of time and effort, cook twice as much rice, water and salt—keeping the extra cups of left-over, ready-cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container. Use it as needed in quick, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

Method for making sweet rice: Thoroughly mix the sugar with the hot rice and chill. Chill the cream and then whip. Add the vanilla to the whipped cream. Fold the chilled rice into the whipped cream. Firmly pack the rice mixture into a greased desert mold. Or, after chilling, serve in individual dessert dishes without molding. Chill molded rice until firm.

Method for making hot fudge sauce: Over a low heat, melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add the chocolate and stir until the chocolate is melted. Add the boiling water gradually, stirring constantly. Heat to boiling. Add the sugar and simmer, stirring until dissolved. Add the vanilla and salt. This recipe makes 1 cup hot fudge sauce.

To serve, dip mold (if rice has been molded) into hot water. Place a plate over the mold and invert plate and mold together. Serve the hot fudge sauce in a separate dish or pitcher and allow eaters to spoon or pour the hot sauce over their servings. Toasted pecans may be sprinkled over each dessert, if desired. This recipe make 7 servings.

GARDEN NOTES

By Walter W. Pitzonka, Jr.

Of course this time of the year is definitely too adverse to move most trees and shrubs. It is not too hot, however, to plan what you want to plant this fall. Yes, I mean actual planning because landscaping should not be a thing of just placing material but it needs much thought. Think of what color patterns will be formed or what foliage contrasts will be seen. Think of what the ultimate height of the plant material will be, not the present height. There are several considerations which should be taken in mind.

It certainly has changed to the dry hot side, hasn't it? Well, if you are thinking how you should water, here it is! Do not water every day! Only water about twice a week and when you do water, run it on one area for about 20 to 30 minutes. This will give a good soaking to the ground but will not keep the soil water logged. Another reason for this type of watering is to keep the water throughout the entire soil and not just the surface. Surface light watering will only make the roots be concentrated toward the top and eventual drying and death will occur if one day is missed in watering.

There is a new apparaus on the market which waters the root system. It is a 36" hollow tube which can be attached to the garden hose. The tube is rammed into the soil and the water is turned on. This water is ejected into the soil well below the surface. This piece of equipment is not necessary if your soil does not form a hard crust on top. If your ground is hard as rock, then this is very handy.

Today I ate my first ripe, delicious home grown tomatoes. Boy—they were as good as good can be. How are yours? You can still plant a crop of sweet corn and this can be done this week.

Again I'll remind you to dust or spray your roses and flowering shrubs because the Japanese beetles are here in full force. Either spray with a DDT mixture or an arsentical compound. If you are not sure what is safe to use, then contact a person who has been trained for good sound advice.

Here is a scoop for you — the public. This year there is a great innovation in the plant industry — a golden tinted shasta daisy. The botanical name is "Chrysanthemum maximum Cobham Gold". Up to this time there has always been white shasta daisies. White single daisies or double white daisies, but they have always been white. This year from the Cobham, England research plant gardens came a golden tinged shasta daisy from among seedlings of "Esther Reed". This local nursery imported stock plants this spring. They made close observations on the growth habit, flower color, and hardiness. When the results were favorable, their chief propagator went to work. Within a few weeks he had made enough plants for this season.

See you next week with some more garden chatter. Happy gardening.

RECIPES

SNOWY WHITE SWEET RICE

When a treat for the gang is the order of the day or when the dessert problem is staring you in the face, reach for the rice box and fix in a jiffy, this simply marvelous sweet rice dessert with a hot fudge sauce.

How yummy and good, to dribbie a hot and chocolaty sauce over a snow white and chilly delicious combination of tender rice and whipped cream flavored with a dash of vanilla and sweetened to a just right degree! Here is the ultimate in truly good, yet truly easy dessert, which is a handsome party refreshment or a homey and good family meal ending.

Ingredients for sweet rice:
- 3 cups hot cooked rice
- ½ cup beet or cane sugar
- ½ pint whipping cream
- ½ teaspoon vanilla

Ingredients for hot fudge sauce:
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 ounce (square) unsweetened chocolate
- ⅓ cup boiling water
- 1 cup beet or cane sugar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- ⅛ teaspoon salt

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice, put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. After the rice has cooked, remove saucepan from heat—but keep the lid on until the rice is to be served.

Use exact measurements of uncooked rice and water. Time the cooking accurately. For extra convenience and economy of time and effort, cook twice as much rice, water and salt—keeping the extra cups of left-over, ready-cooked rice in the refrigerator in a covered container. Use it as needed in quick, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

Method for making sweet rice: Thoroughly mix the sugar with the hot rice and chill. Chill the cream and then whip. Add the vanilla to the whipped cream. Fold the chilled rice into the whipped cream. Firmly pack the rice mixture into a greased desert mold. Or, after chilling, serve in individual dessert dishes without molding. Chill molded rice until firm.

Method for making hot fudge sauce: Over a low heat, melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add the chocolate and stir until the chocolate is melted. Add the boiling water gradually, stirring constantly. Heat to boiling. Add the sugar and simmer, stirring until dissolved. Add the vanilla and salt. This recipe makes 1 cup hot fudge sauce.

To serve, dip mold (if rice has been molded) into hot water. Place a plate over the mold and invert plate and mold together. Serve the hot fudge sauce in a separate dish or pitcher and allow eaters to spoon or pour the hot sauce over their servings. Toasted pecans may be sprinkled over each dessert, if desired. This recipe make 7 servings.

CRUCIAL TEST

BERNE, Switzerland —(INS)— A vaccination against all snakebite is under test in Switzerland where the creator, Jack Pontet, has allowed himself to be bitten by deadly vipers without any harmful results thus far. However, scientists cautioned that the vaccine is still in the experimental stage.

RED REDUCTIONS

PARIS — (INS) — Polish refugee circles in Paris reported that the systematic export of much of Poland's production to the Soviet Union has dangerously reduced food and industrial goods in the country. Prices are said to have sky-rocketed 60 per cent with wages remaining static.
